Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 16 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Windy and mild, with spells of rain.

This Evening and Tonight:
Showers in the south, occasionally heavy, continue into the early evening, before clearing eastwards. Winds ease and clear spells develop for a time, before a blustery band of rain pushes in from the west during the early hours. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Wednesday:
A bright but blustery day once early morning rain has passed. Cloud will move in during the afternoon, with rain spreading northwards through the evening. Feeling mild. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Rain on Thursday morning clears to sunshine and showers and blustery winds. Coastal gales developing and further rain on Friday. Some outbreaks of heavy rain on Saturday, sunny spells later.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.